Bargain Hunting May Emerge

Market Review

Malaysia: The FBMKLCI (-0.47%) ended lower as the key index was dragged by profit taking in the YTL-related counters, amid the weak market sentiment from the poor overnight Wall Street performance. On a side note, the market turnover was close to RM7bn as general portfolio rebalancing activities were seen to end the month.

Global markets: Wall Street ended mixed as the market sentiment was dampened by weak manufacturing data and investors are eyeing the upcoming May payroll report to gauge the future interest rate direction. Both the European and Asian stock markets traded higher.

The Day Ahead

The FBM KLCI ended lower for the week below the 1,600 psychological level as profit taking activities emerged after digesting most of the corporate earnings. Meanwhile, the US stock markets closed mixed for the session amid soft manufacturing sector data, where ISM Manufacturing PMI came in below expectations. However, we think Nvidia's projections are still intact given CEO Jensen Huang revealed that the company's next-generation AI chip platform will be rolling out in 2026. On the commodity markets, Brent oil violated below USD80 as OPEC+ plans to return output after 3Q. The CPO price has charged higher above the RM4,050 level on the back of stronger demand coming from key buyer China due to its low inventories level.

Sectors focus: Given the Technology sector is trending strongly in the US, we expect buying support to emerge within the stocks on the local front within the Technology segments like the HDD, hardware suppliers and cyber security as the key investment theme will revolve around the data center, AI and cloud services in Malaysia. Besides, we opine that (i) Construction, (ii) Property, (iii), Building Materials and (iv) Utilities should benefit for the construction of data center going forward. Based on the latest corporate earnings, traders should focus on NATGATE, MASTEEL and MYCRON.

FBMKLCI Technical Outlook

Bloomberg

The FBM KLCI index ended lower for the sixth session, dipping below the 1,600 level. The technical readings on the key index were negative with the MACD Histogram extending another negative bar, while the RSI dropped below 50. The resistance is envisaged around 1,610-1,615 and the support is set at 1,575-1,580.
